

GLOBAL GRAPHICS

AN EDUCATIONAL PERSPECTIVE

66TH
MID-YEAR CONFERENCE

JANUARY 22-24, 2012
GALVESTON, TEXAS

CALL FOR PAPERS

How has graphics education changed in an increasingly global environment? New technologies have increased the ease of international collaboration. How are we preparing our students to succeed in a global environment? Share your ideas and success stories with your colleagues at the mid-year meeting.

Papers

Authors are invited to submit abstracts for paper presentations at the conference or the media showcase and inclusion in the conference proceedings.

Abstracts are peer-reviewed. Authors of accepted papers must present their papers at the conference.

Submit a 250-300 word abstract for paper or media session electronically by October 24, 2011 to:

Mary Thomas, Program Chair
mthomas@purdue.edu

Topics should be of interest to the graphics education community. The topics listed will have first priority.

- ▶ accreditation
- ▶ distance education
- ▶ innovative technology
- ▶ content, tools, standards
- ▶ instructional methodology
- ▶ first year design & graphics
- ▶ product lifecycle management
- ▶ international collaboration
- ▶ outcomes and assessment
- ▶ curriculum development
- ▶ visualization

IMPORTANT DATES

October 24

Paper or media session abstract (specify which category)

November 14

Notification of acceptance

December 12

Final paper due

Media Showcase

The ETD media session is intended to be an interactive session, which allows the authors to discuss their topics or demonstrate techniques.

This session allows for one-on-one interaction with the audience. Display boards and/or tables will be provided. In addition, authors can set up a computer display that allows for interactivity or on-screen displays. This format allows authors to display physical props or models that are not as effective in a larger group presentation.

The presentation should include visuals; simply posting a paper is not acceptable. Authors are encouraged to submit a paper for the proceedings.

Grants

Travel grants are available to support first-time attendees at an ETD Mid Year meeting.

The Schroff Participation Grants are available for graduate students and new faculty sponsored by Schroff Development Corporation (SDC).

The Cengage Travel Grants are available for 2-year and community college faculty sponsored by Cengage Delmar Learning.

See the conference web site for a grant application.
